CANTRILL IS IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

9th District Congressman Announces Candidacy in Strong Card

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 21.—J. Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, congressman from the 7th district, made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor here Wednesday night. Mr. Cantrill is the second entrant in the race, Congressman Alben W. Barkley, of Paducah, previously having announced his candidacy.

Expressing himself as favoring a statewide primary to determine the nomination of the Democratic candidate for governor, Mr. Cantrill declared in the statement announcing his candidacy his belief that it "would be political suicide for our party to make the nomination in any other way. Only in a primary election can the women voters of the state give full expression to their political opinions."

In his announcement, Mr. Cantrill pledges himself, if nominated and elected, not to become a candidate for United States Senator during his term of office. The term of the governor elected at the 1923 election will cover the selection of successors to both the present Kentucky senators.

Outlining the platform upon which his bid for the nomination was made, Mr. Cantrill declared his determination for full enforcement of all laws; expressed opposition to the tendency toward "padding" on the statute books laws regulating the business and private affairs of the citizens; favored construction of highways in every county where they are needed; and pledged equal attention to all sections of the state in this respect.

"If elected," the statement declared, "pardon will be scarce and leniency, especially for the crime of taking human life." A promise for a thorough investigation and equitable distribution of taxes and that the bipartisan control of state institutions would not be disturbed, also was incorporated in the formal announcement.

Mr. Cantrill is 52 years of age. He was chairman of the Scott county Democratic Committee from 1895 to 1897; was member of the Kentucky house of representatives from 1897 to 1901; and was state senator from 1901 to 1905.

He was chairman of the joint caucus of the legislature in 1904, in which year he declined a nomination for congress. He was delegate to the Democratic National convention that year. He was elected to congress in 1908 and has served continuously since.

His secretary, Joe Morris, will open campaign headquarters here after Christmas.

They loaded the liquor in automobiles and sped away either toward Shepherdsville or Louisville. The bandits cut the telephone wires and the guards were compelled to walk to Samuels, three miles away, to give the alarm. The first warning the guards had of the raid was when the bandits shot into the office window. The guards dropped to the floor and remained there about an hour, under a constant fusillade. De Land, Fla., Dec. 21.—Leu Gem Gong, known internationally as a horticulturist, "president" of a "Chinese Republic" and holder of the Wilder Medal awarded by the U. S. department of agriculture, is at his home here dependent upon the generosity of friends, feeble and broken, with a heavy mortgage on his home, which for many years has been one of the show places of central Florida.

Friends in De Land are supplying his sustenance and have taken charge of his business affairs in the hope of clearing up his debts. Leu resides on his estate with "Fanny," a mare which for twenty years has been his pet and sole companion. He lives virtually the life of a hermit and during the last 16 years has visited De Land, the nearest town, but four times.

Leu has numerous horticultural accomplishments to his credit, but the best known is the Leu Gem Gong orange, perfected in 1887 by crossing the Mediterranean Sweet and Hart's Lane varieties and for which he received the Wilder medal. The tree of this variety will thrive in a climate too cold for others, while the fruit will remain on the tree several years and maintain its maximum amount of juice and flavor.

In 1890 Leu investigated the grapefruit and produced a cross of the common Florida grapefruit and the tri-lobate orange. The fruit is of superior quality and the tree can stand from ten to fifteen degrees lower temperature than ordinary varieties. Leu's last citrus development resulted in the perfumed grapefruit which will permeate a house with an agreeable odor. It is a cross of the pomegranate and grapefruit.

Leu also perfected the cherry currant in Massachusetts, a cross of the ordinary currant and the grape. In other fields he produced an apple that ripened in July, a late peach grown under glass with the fruit ripening in November, a salmon colored raspberry and a tomato plant that grows to a height of fifteen feet.

Leu was born on a farm near Canton, China, in 1859, arrived in San Francisco in March, 1872, and went to New England where he was employed by Solomon Burlingame, of North Adams, Mass. He was adopted by an unmarried daughter of Mr. Burlingame in 1874. Two years later Leu was elected first "president" of the "Chinese Republic," at a meeting under a large chestnut tree in a cow pasture near North Adams, held in connection with the Centennial celebration to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. R. Chung, one of the members of the movement who met with Leu, was ordered to China with the news and to launch a campaign. Chung died before he reached China and the movement ended here, although some of the principles laid down by Leu are now said to be incorporated in the laws of the present Chinese government.

When Leu's foster mother died the Burlingame property near here was left to him and five per cent of the remainder of the estate.

WHICH WILL GET MOUNTAIN TRADE?

Building Of "Bosworth Trail" Would Help Madison Offset Clark's Efforts

Pineville, Ky., Dec. 19.—News has just reached here that Clark county on last Thursday voted an additional 20 cent road tax in order that Clark county might connect up with two big road projects. One being the Kyvq. road, leading through Powell, Wolfe, Perry and Letcher counties. The other is the Kentenwa route, leading through Estill, Lee, Owsley, Clay and Bell counties. It can clearly be seen that Winchester and Clark county have an eye to business, as the construction of two lines (or one road serving the same purpose at least half the way) from Winchester to Powell county and to Estill county will connect up the metropolis of Clark county with a rich and never failing mountain territory.

Beattyville is also beginning to take notice of the advantage that city would have by the construction of the Kentenwa route into the mountains.

On the heels of this undertaking another mountain route is being proposed known as the "Bosworth Trail," leading from Richmond to Middlesboro thru the counties of Jackson, Clay and Bell. Probably more headway has been made on this route than on the former named route, since both Jackson and Clay counties have voted bond issues and the elections were validated by the Court of Appeals on last Friday and the state road department has already voted to accept this project and construct it immediately as far as McKee in Jackson county as soon as Madison takes care of the two and one-half miles over the Big Hill, which has been the barrier for many years between the bluegrass and the mountains. Bell county, of course, feels the importance of these roads and no doubt will do her part in the construction of same.

The sections that will be touched by the "Bosworth Trail" are very rich in many respects and would furnish an abundant supply of raw materials for years to come to the bluegrass sections. Richmond and Madison county would be a strong competitor for the mountain supplies if the Bosworth Trail is constructed and in all probability would be a more direct road from the bluegrass to the south-land than would be the Kentenwa route.

So it is to be seen that both Madison and Clark counties are bidding for the mountain business. Which shall it be? We can not see any reason why both lines can not be constructed and give to all the mountain counties the connection which they deserve and to the bluegrass the opportunity of drawing upon the resources of the mountains for coal, oil, lumber, fruits, etc.

"Fatty" Arbuckle Is Given Another Chance

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 21.—Roscoe Arbuckle, rotund comedian, barred from the screen since last April because of his encounter with the law, today was restored to the privilege of coming back to the place he once occupied in his industry, if he can. Joseph Schneek, producer, said he would employ Arbuckle and the latter said he was thankful for the chance to work and would strive to make good. Mr. Hays issued a brief statement, saying he felt every man was entitled to his chance and that the film industry not only wanted to live and let live, but it wanted to live and help live.

CORLISS PALMER QUOTED MILTON

The blind author of "Paradise Lost" had something to do with the sensational love tangle of Corliss Palmer and Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire publisher of a string of movie magazines. The Macdon (Ga.) "Cigar count" girl says her life was influenced by these lines found in a book in the Brewster library: "Beauty is nature's coin; mine not be hoarded But must be current, and the good thereof Consists in utter and partaken bliss."
